Board Approval Enables MAC to Proceed

SAMANTHA YOUNG
CO EDITOR IN CHIEF

Almost five hours of deliberation led to the final approval of the Multipurpose Activity Center (MAC) on Thursday, Feb. 8 at the West Long Branch Municipal Building. With a 5 to 2 vote, the University can now take the first steps to construct the complex on campus.

Monmouth supporters, all donned in “Hawks” pins and construction opponents filled the audience, eager to hear the much-anticipated verdict. At its peak, the town meeting was played out in front of 75 spectators including city residents, University staff and students.

Looking Back

In December 2006, the University went before the zoning board to receive approval for the MAC. The motion was rejected with a 4 to 3 vote. In cases of variance, five affirmative votes are necessary.

The University’s motion to reconsider was brought about by a miscommunication between West Long Branch Police Chief Arthur McElrath and board member Douglas Bostwick. Although Cosentino had numerous conversations with the MUPD about traffic and parking procedures during MAC events, he was unaware of any tangible form of the plan existed. While the MUPD was in possession of the plan, it was waiting to formally submit it to the zoning board.

In January, the University once again met in front of the board to discuss their proposed plan. Originally, the MAC was to have 4,842 seats and 16 capacity events, which consists of a minimum of 4,800 spectators. At the end of the meeting the move to reconsider was granted with the stipulation that 720 seats would be removed from the floor plan and four capacity events would be eliminated from the University’s proposal.

The Plan

Last Thursday’s meeting was the last step for the University in a successful acquisition of MAC approval. The job of the board was to question the thoroughness of the University’s traffic and parking plans and to make sure the project would be in the city’s best interest. The board members included Rocco W. Christopher, Irven Miller, Samuel Guidetti, James Medda, John Artia, Douglas Bostwick, Ellen Anfuso, and Thomas Klein.

In preparation for the meeting, WLBDP Captain Lawrence Milhon met with Patricia Swannack, Vice President for Administrative Services, and MUPD Chief William McElrath to devise a plan capable of directing and monitoring traffic surrounding MAC events. This plan was then presented in front of the board.

Titled, “Joint Traffic and Parking Plan,” the slideshow, outlined the following key points:

• The plan will be implemented for all events in excess of 3,000 spectators.
• The University will give a second and seventh days notice to the WLBDP.
• In an effort to efficiently direct vehicles to and from events, “No Parking” signs will be placed on applicable borough streets.
• The signs and associated needs in this capacity will be paid for by the University.
• MUPD officers will assist the WLBDP in the patrolling of surrounding streets during events.
• Police officers will be stationed along the various exits routes planned in an effort to disband crowds in a timely, efficient manner.
• If more officers are needed, off duty officers from West Long Branch or officers from neighboring towns will be called to assist.
• The expenses for their service hours will be reimbursed by the WLBDP.

The Plan continued on pg. 12.

Latest Credit Card Thefts Resemble Previous Robberies

MUPD Believe Burglaries May Be Related

WESLEY CHIN
NEWS EDITOR

NICHOLAS SGROI
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Two university employees were victims of credit card theft late last month, in a case that mirrored last February’s reported robberies, according to the Monmouth University Police Department.

Although the alleged thieves are not thought to be connected to last year’s incident, the MUPD have not ruled out the possibility of the two groups working together.

An initial report of the burglary was made on January 22, detailing the theft of two credit cards out of an employee’s locker in Wilson Hall. Several days later, the MUPD received a second report that took place in McAllen Hall, with a total of four credit cards being stolen.

The identities of the theft victims were not released due to school policy. According to Det. Sgt. Kenneth Kennedy of the MUPD, the thieves charged thousands of dollars to the cards in many of the area’s surrounding businesses that were hit in last year’s incident including Staples, Circuit City, and a gasoline station in Wall Township.

“They purchase” mostly electronic items, such as laptops, cameras, and games,” said Kennedy.

Unfortunately, in most of these cases, the criminals have used the cards to the maximum, and they are out of the state before the owner even realizes the cards are not in their wallet.”

Currently, no arrests have been made despite video footage capturing the thieves entering Staples. Images show that the latest thieves are the same from the February 2006 theft. However, police believe that similar methods of operation, spending locations, and items purchased in both incidents indicate a potential connection between the groups.

Kennedy stated that no witnesses were present to the actual theft, due to the thieves working in groups with lookouts, maintaining constant communication with each through cell phones.

“These individuals are professionals, and appear to fit in,” he commented. “If confronted in an office, they will simply say they are looking for Mr. Smith, Financial Aid or some other location.”

James Brown, the assistant store director of Circuit City in Eatontown, claims that fraudulent credit card purchases are not uncommon in retail stores. He stated that their cashiers check credit cards for a signature and validate it by checking a second form of identification. If a customer is caught with a fraudulent card, the store will decline the transaction, then ask the person to leave and is banned.

“It comes with the territory,” said Brown. Every retailer gets hit. Only defensive measures can be taken. No accusations are allowed to be made it’s a store policy.

Eatontown, Shrewsbury, and other local police departments involved have reported no progress in the cases.

According to Kennedy, recently received information reported that several eastern state universities have been hit by these same robberies.

Thiefs continued on pg. 2.
JACQUELINE KOLOSKI
EDITOR IN CHIEF

Beginning next fall semester, the accelerated MBA program will be implemented at Monmouth University. Elliot, Director of the Water Watch, Mr. Kelly, dean of the school of business administration, explained that the current MBA program has a preliminary core and an advanced core.

“We have decided that for those students who have a recent under-graduate business degree from an AACSB accredited school that we can waive that prelin core and by putting together a mixture of regular courses and classes that we can construct a schedule that would allow those students to complete the MBA in one calendar year as a cohort group,” said Kelly.

Elliot, combining regular courses with hybrid courses, which are taught half in the classroom and half online, will ensure that students will be able to finish ahead of their regular cohort group by the two years it generally takes to complete an MBA.

The program has been in the planning stages since last September. In order to determine student interest, a survey was conducted.

“We did a survey of graduate students and graduate applicants back in the fall to see how many people might be interested in it and see if there was a market for it,” said Kelly. He added that the results showed that students favored the new program. They then went ahead and began developing the hybrid courses, decided who would teach the courses and es- tablish a schedule.

“There were also background materials that needed to be worked out,” said Kelly. “We also had to get budgetary approval to make an initial line course.

The accelerated MBA program will consist of courses that are in the current program but the only difference is that some courses are being held in hybrid, accord- ing to Kelly.

Some courses included in the curriculum are managerial accounting, business finance, ethics, law and social responsibility, and logistics management.

“Strategic management is the capstone course students will have to take in the second summer ses- sion,” added Kelly.

Dr. Min Lu, associate profes- sor of marketing, will be teaching the International Marketing Man- agement and Marketing Management.

“I hope that this program will provide students with the potential students to seek a fast paced program that will help them land a job they want and/or speed up their career development pace,” said Lu.

Dr. Joseph Mosca, the associate professor of management and mar- keting, will be teaching the accel- erated Human Resource Manage- ment course. This course will be taught in hybrid. “What is going to happen is that we will be teaming up with Dr. Chris- tensen who is going to be teaching different parts of the course,” Lu said.

This combination will allow students to complete two courses in one summer with a summer vacation according to Mosca.

“Dr. Christensen will be in the classroom on Mondays with his students and on Wednesdays they will be online with to retrieve the information,” explained Mosca. He refers to this as an on-site/hybrid class.

He noted that the biggest ad- vantage to this is that students have more time to use the infor- mation needed for these classes and in a time management system equipped for students who have jobs.

“Human Resource Manage- ment…gives them a complete understanding about what com- pany culture is needed to be managed and that they have to do is teach managers how to maintain an environment that people can use you.”

In addition to that, Mosca said that the least difficult course is the ethical, a deeper definition of diver- sity from a human resource stand- point. Job analysis, job design, and job description.

When teaching the class, Mos- ca said that he teaches by cases. Those cases include topics like la- bor relations, motivation and dis- cipline, orientation and training, and international human resource management.

“I think the university will bene- fit because it allows students not only obtain a degree in less time, but also get a head start in their pace,” said Mosca. “It will not interfere with the student’s work. The program is designed means that we can fit it into the student’s life easier.”

Dr. Guy Oakes, a professor of management and marketing, explained that the accelerated MBA program begins in Fall.

“New program allows students to complete masters in business in one year.”

TO OUR READERS:

Due to illness within the staff, The Outlook, which is nor- mally published on Wednesdays, printed a day later. This was a one-time occurrence. We appreciate your understanding in this matter.

New Jersey Water Watch Fights Pollution

PAUL BAKER
STAFF WRITER

Environmentalists of all back- grounds gathered at the Magill Commons Club Room 109 at 2:30 p.m. on February 1, 2007 for the New Jersey Water Watch’s spring semester kickoff meeting.

The meeting was well attended by students and faculty alike. “Our best defense in preventing water pollution is working to get people involved,” said Jill Roberts, a member of the NJWW Committee.

“Any students with interest are welcome and briefed explanation about the group, its goals, and activates which they have done in the past,” said Roberts.

The group plans to hold events in the future, and it is currently contacting the NJWW campus organizer for Water Watch.

“The best defense in preventing this type of crime is a well informed public,” Kennedy said. “We are taking the time to educate the campus community about the theory of crime prevention make it as difficult as possible for some- one to commit the crime, in the hopes that they will move on in search of an easier target – hopefully away from Monmouth.

The Outlook

February 14, 2007

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Accelerated MBA Program Begins in Fall

New program allows students to complete masters in business in one year.

“This is a way of making the program more visible then it would otherwise be.”

DR. GUY OAKES
Professor of Management and Marketing

Credit Card Theft

Thiefs continued from pg. 1

Thefts. He said that local pol- ice departments deal with these crimes as well, as thieves target students who are unaware of money that might be in their rooms.

MUPD only has jurisdiction over the residence halls and dorms, and has no control over investigations regarding the theft of materials that needed to be worked

Paul Acker, a member of the NJWW committee.

The element of friendship was bring into the program a group of highly motivated individuals who have a strong cohesive cohesiveness that will last beyond their graduate degree program here.build friendships, and business networks that will carry into the future...”, said Dean Neil Oakes about the accelerated MBA program.

“Basically we are hoping to bring into the program a group of students who are going to be able to carry those business networks that will carry into the future...”, said Dean Neil Oakes about the accelerated MBA program.
All 40 tables graciously dazzled Wilson Hall, spreading throughout the Conservatory, Versailles Room, and the Great Hall. Dinner was served once everyone was settled. The dinner consisted of a buffet that filled one of the Wilson Hall rooms with an array of delicious foods. Items such as salad, mash potatoes, pasta, vegetables, chicken franchise, and rolls were offered to suit most people’s tastes. After dinner, the dance floor was jammed. If you ever wondered what over 300 people looked like dancing in Wilson Hall, Saturday was the night to find out. The DJ played hits, slow songs, and even took requests. The music at the Ball brought life and amusement to the already energetic crowd. “Everyone looked wonderful and the music was great!” The decorations also came out beautiful,” said sophomore Kimberli Gerechoff.

With the night’s J’adore Paris theme, no detail was left out. The theme colors were black, red and silver, being displayed in the table cloths, napkins, ballrooms, and decorations. Paris was represented in the Eiffel Tower confetti on the tables to the French dressing for the salad. But nothing completed the feel like the giant 18-foot Eiffel Tower on display and the giant Arch de triumph over the staircase. “This year’s Winterball turned out like a dream. As a graduating senior, it was a little sad to see it all end, but knowing I was a part of it all made me feel incredible,” said Anthony Esposito, a committee member. “It’s a lot of fun and gives people a night of dinner and dancing in one of the most beautiful buildings,” said Carroll. “I would definitely recommend it for anyone who has not gone before to consider going next year,” said Gerechoff.

The night was for everyone to enjoy and have a good time, coordinating every last detail. “The committee was the best we’ve had so far. Everyone involved was more than willing to do anything that was needed in order for the night to be a success,” said Carroll.

Guests started arriving in their evening attire around 7 p.m. Students were encouraged to attend with their friends, dates, or solo. The night was for everyone to enjoy, no matter who people went with.

“I had so much fun at the Winter Ball. It was the kind of event where everyone will bring a date to have fun, but you could just hang out with your friends, eat a good dinner, dance to some good music. My friends and I will definitely be attending next year,” said MU freshman Vanessa Vernile.

There was a simple cocktail hour that gave everyone the chance to mingle and meet new people. Attendees were treated to a delicious meal of cordon blue bites, coconut shrimp, mashed potatoes, pasta, vegetables, chicken franchise, and rolls were included. The dinner consisted of a buffet that filled one of the Wilson Hall rooms with an array of delicious foods. Items such as salad, mash potatoes, pasta, vegetables, chicken franchise, and rolls were offered to suit most people’s tastes. After dinner, the dance floor was jammed. If you ever wondered what over 300 people looked like dancing in Wilson Hall, Saturday was the night to find out. The DJ played hits, slow songs, and even took requests.

The music at the Ball brought life and amusement to the already energetic crowd. “Everyone looked wonderful and the music was great!” The decorations also came out beautiful,” said sophomore Kimberli Gerechoff.

With the night’s J’adore Paris theme, no detail was left out. The theme colors were black, red and silver, being displayed in the table cloths, napkins, ballrooms, and decorations. Paris was represented in the Eiffel Tower confetti on the tables to the French dressing for the salad. But nothing completed the feel like the giant 18-foot Eiffel Tower on display and the giant Arch de triumph over the staircase. “This year’s Winterball turned out like a dream. As a graduating senior, it was a little sad to see it all end, but knowing I was a part of it all made me feel incredible,” said Anthony Esposito, a committee member. “It’s a lot of fun and gives people a night of dinner and dancing in one of the most beautiful buildings,” said Carroll. “I would definitely recommend it for anyone who has not gone before to consider going next year,” said Gerechoff.
Danielle Elefante: One of the Most Inspiring Students Across the Country

February 14, 2007

DANIEL ROB EDITOR, LARGE

Born and raised in Thousand Oaks, California, Danielle Elefante was raised in a family that supported her. They never treated her differently, even though she was deaf. "I really never emphasized the idea that she was facing adversity. We just raised her the same way we raised our other children, and to deal with each issue accordingly," her mother explained. "That's a normal childhood, and being the youngest of the three, her siblings learned sign language but very few take it seriously, the way Danielle did. They never treated her differently, but I will miss the class and Dani terribly."

Danielle is an amazing student, she grew in the classroom, the running the ASL program, working in the Catholic Center, or spending time with her family. Danielle has a moving affect on people. She is known to be an amazing person, and gets everyone to keep up, said Beverly Peterson, a communication counselor for deaf people in the California where she hopes to become a California Film Festival. Danielle is an amazing student, she takes something away from every experience. She has touched the life of so many, and gets everyone to keep up, she said. She has touched the life of so many, and in a role model for all ages.

Daniele Elefante: One of the Most Inspiring Students Across the Country

February 14, 2007

DANIEL ROB EDITOR, LARGE

Born and raised in Thousand Oaks, California, Danielle Elefante was raised in a family that supported her. They never treated her differently, even though she was deaf. "I really never emphasized the idea that she was facing adversity. We just raised her the same way we raised our other children, and to deal with each issue accordingly," her mother explained. "That's a normal childhood, and being the youngest of the three, her siblings learned sign language but very few take it seriously, the way Danielle did. They never treated her differently, but I will miss the class and Dani terribly."

Danielle is an amazing student, she grew in the classroom, the running the ASL program, working in the Catholic Center, or spending time with her family. Danielle has a moving affect on people. She is known to be an amazing person, and gets everyone to keep up, said Beverly Peterson, a communication counselor for deaf people in the California where she hopes to become a California Film Festival. Danielle is an amazing student, she takes something away from every experience. She has touched the life of so many, and gets everyone to keep up, she said. She has touched the life of so many, and in a role model for all ages.

"We’re in an interpreting program,” she said. “If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Commuon College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others.”

Rebman, 45, briefly worked at a Follett bookstore in 2004 and will transfer to the University of Central Florida next semester to continue his pursuit of becoming an elementary-school teacher.

"It has taken a lot of hard work," Rebman said. "It has taken a lot of trust as well. But it has been worth it."

They’ve got a pretty good hurdle getting this certified as a class-action argument," he said. "If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Community College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others."

Rebman, 45, briefly worked at a Follett bookstore in 2004 and will transfer to the University of Central Florida next semester to continue his pursuit of becoming an elementary-school teacher.

"It has taken a lot of hard work," Rebman said. "It has taken a lot of trust as well. But it has been worth it."

They’ve got a pretty good hurdle getting this certified as a class-action argument," he said. "If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Community College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others."

"We’re in an interpreting program,” she said. “If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Commuon College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others.”

Rebman, 45, briefly worked at a Follett bookstore in 2004 and will transfer to the University of Central Florida next semester to continue his pursuit of becoming an elementary-school teacher.

"It has taken a lot of hard work," Rebman said. "It has taken a lot of trust as well. But it has been worth it."

They’ve got a pretty good hurdle getting this certified as a class-action argument," he said. "If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Community College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others."

Rebman, 45, briefly worked at a Follett bookstore in 2004 and will transfer to the University of Central Florida next semester to continue his pursuit of becoming an elementary-school teacher.

"It has taken a lot of hard work," Rebman said. "It has taken a lot of trust as well. But it has been worth it."

They’ve got a pretty good hurdle getting this certified as a class-action argument," he said. "If they can expand it beyond the Daytona Beach Community College students, they’ll certainly help pave the way for others."

Rebman, 45, briefly worked at a Follett bookstore in 2004 and will transfer to the University of Central Florida next semester to continue his pursuit of becoming an elementary-school teacher.
Monmouth University Presents

Feb. 27 & 28
Anacon Hall, 7:30 pm

The Vagina Monologues

Tickets on Sale Now in the Student Center Box Office and Information Desk
$4 in advance
$7 at the door
All proceeds go to stop violence against women and girls

Envoy Goes Both Ways

---

The Exotic Look
of a pampered lifestyle.
Without the paparazzi.

Come experience our state-of-the-art tanning and spa equipment.

Unlimited Tanning
As low as 19.95
no session fees!

255 Rt. 35 Eatontown, NJ
732-544-8267

Planet Beach
our solar system revolves around you

Mystic Tan
UV Free Tanning Technology

A Mystic spray session:
• Delivers an even, customized application of tanning mist.
• Uses MagnetTan® Technology
• Takes seconds
• Lasts 5-7 days
• Provides a deep, natural-looking tan

Buy 1 Mystic
Get 1 FREE
When you purchase 1 at reg. price.
See your for details.
Restrictions may apply.

20% OFF
All Retail
1 per customer.
See spa for details.
Restrictions may apply.
Editorial

The Outlook editorial this week is a way for me to lay out all my cards on the table. Before going any further, I will say that this is going to be about the one, the only, the Macipurpose Activity Center (MAC). So, if you don’t want to read, feel free to skip to another section.

I know it feels, at least to me, as if this debate has been beaten to death with no end in sight. But I am asking you to trust me.

I haven’t exactly hidden my disfain for the MAC — the idea of yet another gymnasium. From my point of view, I saw it as an intrusion. It would be great for the school and would most likely have a lot to offer, but just never seemed like it would fit in our cozy atmosphere here on campus — a stadium overshadowing the rest of our campus.

And, as is my job here at The Outlook, I wrote about my feelings in my last editorial. While trying to explain the latest series of hoops the University has put itself up to to satisfy all conditions of the town, I put in my two cents as well.

Most notably, I claimed that the University should take more time and worry about the students and buildings they already have. Then, once that has been completed, work on the MAC. In no way can the University do, or be expected to do, everything. So my thinking was, “Why?”

It’s been two weeks and a series of events has occurred through which I have revised my position a bit. On the first page you can clearly see the big news this week — the Mac has been approved. The day has finally come. Those of you who pay close attention to detail might also have noticed who wrote the article. That’s right, me.

Most notably, I claimed the University should take more time and worry about the students and buildings they already have. Then, once that has been completed, work on the MAC. In no way can the University do, or be expected to do, everything. So my thinking was, “Why?”

It’s been two weeks and a series of events has occurred through which I have revised my position a bit. On the first page you can clearly see the big news this week — the Mac has been approved. The day has finally come. Those of you who pay close attention to detail might also have noticed who wrote the article. That’s right, me.

I have just committed an ethical mistake — a conflict of interest, if you will.

When I found out about the hear-ting, to be quite honest, I didn’t go into another onslaught of concerns and complaints, interrupted by the claps and boos of those in attendance. Rest assured, it was all things. But, underneath the surface, another issue lay bare. That is what I discovered.

Four and a half hours sitting in a chair will do some crazy things to the human body; not to mention your bladder. Nevertheless, the journalist inside me remained seat-ted, taking notes on the town meeting madness unfolding in front of my eyes. Approaching it with an open mind as I could muster, I realized two things about the situation known at the MAC debate.

The first is that the University is growing. I know anyone who looked at the latest enrollment figures. to Monmouth, her response was necessarily what I mean. When I was in high school and told my guidance counselor I was going to Monmouth, her response was

One thing I try to convey nothing more than the school has changed. I mean, is growing. I know anyone who looked at the latest enrollment

From this, I am trying to convey nothing more than the school has changed. I mean, is growing. I know anyone who looked at the latest enrollment

I once thought of the MAC as a place only to be used by the athletes, to make sure they get attention, while the academic elements get overlooked.

In essence, I suppose the MAC would benefit everyone in that, if people see how we can develop, more money would come to the school in the form of donations and alumni contributions. Having worked at the phonathon, I can attest to the fact that a large majority of that money does indeed go toward scholarships for students. If it didn’t, I don’t think I would be here at all.

The second thing I learned through the last MAC-filled week was a lesson more suited to everyday life. People are just never sattisfied. They want to live in a nice, family-oriented town, but they love having the University atmosphere as well. To most, the collegiate atmosphere is a welcome one. But when our events infringe on any aspect of their social lives, tempers flare.

Education is deemed as a top priority. Yet, when a university attempts to educate and train in facilities befitting of the times, the past is yearned for.

Have I completely changed my opinion? No. But, seeing firsthand the lengths Monmouth and its administration went through to ap-rise of the zoning board and the Uni-
you can also become a little more tolerant and less quick to judge the school’s motives.

For years, Monmouth has tried to please the zoning board and the Uni-
you can also become a little more tolerant and less quick to judge the school’s motives.

Hopefully, I will come back when the MAC is built and be proven right, that its presence will only make those future graduates from Monmouth stare their guidance counselors in the face and say, “Yeah, I went to Monmouth!”
From the Heart of a Mother

Hello M.U., this is your friendly Opinion Editor, Suzanne Guarino. Opinion Editors are generally opinionated people (surprisingly!) and so I feel it is time that I share my opinions and thoughts with you. So here are a few things that have been on my mind this week:

It’s that time of year again for Valentine’s Day. In case you didn’t notice with all the love in the air, I hope that you can enjoy it. There will always be those bitter people who dread Valentine’s Day. You will often hear these people grumbling something about how they hate Valentine’s Day and that it’s just a Hallmark holiday that makes you feel as though you have to spend money on someone in order to prove your love or a day to make single people miserable. Why can’t we just use this day as a reminder that we need to show love to people in general? This year was no exception. Let’s face it: Valentine’s Day is a day when love is the theme as anything less than wonderful, except of course, that we should have more days like this. If you do not have a valentine, spend the day nurturing your relationship with friends, family, or, perhaps even yourself. Romantic love is not the only form of love.

I was inspired by Lindsay’s story in the article “From the Heart of a Mother” which appears below. This is precisely what I’m talking about. Showing warmth, care, and human kindness for the people around us is priceless and the most meaningful gift you can ever give someone.

With Valentine’s Day and hearts on our mind in February, I think it’s a good month for heart health. So, do some extra walking, eat more vegetables and less fatty foods, sleep more, and reduce stress in your life, but also, express any negative emotions you feel and be open to love in your life. This will keep your heart healthy and happy.

Okay, so on a completely different note, The Grammys were on Sunday and something about that show gets me pumped up and very inspired.

The Grammys are definitely classier than other music awards such as the VMAs. What I found interesting was that The Grammys have been on longer than the Superbowl. Next year will be the 50th annual Grammy Awards. Personally, I was very excited that it was a big night for Mary J. Blige and her Breakthrough album. However, I wasn’t so delighted to see the Dixie Chicks win the most awards. The Dixie Chicks are not the only band who deserve a moment of time for the world, but they did deserve a moment of time for the world as it has become due to the bias, and the evil that daunts the heart of the empty, the mind of the ignorant, the actions were rewarded within their culture. I have already prayed that music affects different people in different ways. Plain and simple, if a person interprets something as horrible noise, the other may interpret it as beautiful, meaningful sound. So maybe it is plausible to state that when someone asks, “How do you listen to that?” they are actually stating something along the lines of, “That doesn’t please me, so why should I please you?”

In conclusion, music is something that is different to everyone. A person’s individuality is based much upon the music that he or she listens to, and the fact that people, in general are “anti-idiocrasy” and all music is accepted. To me, every common reason why many people are labeled, one way or another, Music, while contributing to stereo-typing something that is sacred to every individual, and should be respected as such. In a nutshell, take the time to understand the person and how this music affects him or her before you ask, “My God, How do you listen to that?”

This letter solely represents the unseen heroes... Thank you, young heroes, for displaying humankind.

CHRIS AUSTRA
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

In my 18 years, I have sampled many different kinds of music. From the classical wonders of Bach and Mozart, to the traditional Okinawan folk music of artist Ikue Asazaki, and almost everything in between. Some of my personal musical favorites include such hits as “Reflections”, by Mariah Carey, “Mammal”, by Cradle of Filth, “The Flower Duet”, by composer Leo Delibes, and of course, “Elysium”, by DJ Scott Brown. While being the music connoisseur that I am, it is not often that I have ever found that others to my music, mainly my friends, family, and those close to me do not have the same enjoyment of music. Playing iPod through my large, Bose brand headphones. My focus in this piece goes toward metal, a very misunderstood style of music. While I am here to justify the lyrics, or the supposed controversy of its correlation with violent behavior, I am going to address a personal phenomena. That is, music affects different people in different ways. Plain and simple, it is the 50th annual Grammy Awards. Personally, I was very excited that it was a big night for Mary J. Blige and her Breakthrough album. However, I wasn’t so delighted to see the Dixie Chicks win the most awards. The Dixie Chicks are not the only band who deserve a moment of time for the world, but they did deserve a moment of time for the world as it has become due to the bias, and the evil that daunts the heart of the empty, the mind of the ignorant, the actions were rewarded within their culture. I have already prayed that music affects different people in different ways. Plain and simple, if a person interprets something as horrible noise, the other may interpret it as beautiful, meaningful sound. So maybe it is plausible to state that when someone asks, “How do you listen to that?” they are actually stating something along the lines of, “That doesn’t please me, so why should I please you?”

In conclusion, music is something that is different to everyone. A person’s individuality is based much upon the music that he or she listens to, and the fact that people, in general are “anti-idiocrasy” and all music is accepted. To me, every common reason why many people are labeled, one way or another, Music, while contributing to stereo-typing something that is sacred to every individual, and should be respected as such. In a nutshell, take the time to understand the person and how this music affects him or her before you ask, “My God, How do you listen to that?”
incidentally, was a Honda Civic. My roommate’s car, which, to most people, would help the overall noise level, for giving students a place to compete without having our athletic programs by providing us with an enormous catastrophic event. So if you are interested in making a donation either electronically or by check, we would greatly improve not only the local community but also attract many more students. Like I said before, this would finally provide us with a game once a week. I’m sure I speak for all of our athletes may not always be in the face, completely staring it in the face, completely accepting of its fate. We are the ones who are going to lose the battle. We have to, we have the ability to change someone’s life? A way that we could get our hands on. We’ve been killin...
Looking back, we were wrong about Iraq having chemical weapons, but we can’t go back in time and change things. We must make the best of a bad situation.

The United States found weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. So even if the President did lie, it was a major issue. A Washington Post-ABC poll also found that 72% of the country felt the same way. Many people in this country point fingers at the Republican leaders of this country for invading Iraq and shed all responsibility. I will never hear the end of the how come you didn’t do this, why didn’t you do that. I do not understand why, but the user of chemical weapons should clearly have that all responsibility is removed from the person saying it. In light of all of this, it is quite hypocritical, also consider that he was re-elected in 2004 by an American majority.

Where did the wars supporters vote him out of office? Did they have a problem with him, did they have a problem with WMD’s or the capability to manufacture them? Please consider these facts. At the time of the invasion, there was no substantial evidence has the United States found weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. In fact, when the going gets tough, the media makes money. They are not above to have a spin to it, to play down. It is unfortunate that the United States found weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. We no doubt have people dying in Iraq, but eventually we will leave that country, it is a fact, but while we are there we need to make sure that we are not allowing people to fall off to. Ok, so they may not be coming to the United States, but they are elsewhere. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re- tspiritually flip-flopped on our government. Saddam Hussein had the majority party, but we are also turning our backs on the millions of people in this country, in this world who are still living in the old style. As a nation, no we have not only been re-
Chick flicks typically are movies which girls like and guys can’t stand. Because I Said So is a chick flick. Not only is most of the humor directed towards a female audience, the entire plot is. There’s nothing wrong with this; it simply is what it is. It’s a movie that a guy will agree to take a girl to in order to make her happy and earn points for being nice. Guys, pay attention: if you take a date to this movie, those will be very hard-fought points. As a guy, I found it incredibly excruciating to watch this film. But, as with all movies like this, my date ended up happy and I looked like a nice guy for taking her. That, in the end, is what it’s all about.

The plot for this movie is so thin that I shall describe it in little more than a single sentence. Daphne (Diane Keaton) is the mother of Milly (Mandy Moore) whom has had many guy issues. Being the concerned mother that she is, she takes it upon herself to remedy them by fixing her daughter up with a man she interviews through a personal ad, only to have her end up falling for another guy. That is it. There are absolutely no surprising plot twists, and no doubts whatsoever about who the girl will end up with in the end.

Movies this predictable are not a joy to watch for most people, but instead are a waiting game. Step one, mom sets up her unmarried daughter with a guy; check. Daughter gets caught in a love triangle with the guy she is with, check. Fights break out between the guy and daughter about how the mom is controlling the daughter’s life; check. Lastly, everyone ends up happy in the end; check.

These lines alone epitomize the relationship between the mother and daughter. From Everett Scott (That Thing You Do, An American Werewolf in Paris, Dead Man on Campus) portraying a father, to Diane Keaton portraying a mom, the illusion of unpredictability is provided. Because he’s a familiar face. Producers get their money’s worth out of hiring Diane Keaton. But, as with any other chick flicks, the acting is great. Mandy Moore who steals the show, Kiefer Sutherland, and because of this it is undeniable in Because I Said So.

Daphne (Diane Keaton) is the mother of Milly (Mandy Moore) whom has had many guy issues. Being the concerned mother that she is, she takes it upon herself to remedy them by fixing her daughter up with a man she interviews through a personal ad, only to have her end up falling for another guy. That is it. There are absolutely no surprising plot twists, and no doubts whatsoever about who the girl will end up with in the end.

Life After Idol

Yes, he is the guy with the gray hair and wacky dance moves. Continuing my biweekly American Idol review, I have chosen Taylor Hicks for this week’s article. After winning last year’s Idol, Taylor Hicks released his self-titled album on December 12, 2006. Hicks gives a little bit of everything on his album, including blues, rock, pop, and soul.

The album kicks off with “The Runaround.” Its catchy beat would make absolutely anyone want to get out of their seat and dance. The vocals are spiritual and the keyboard keeps your attention. This one is definitely a long song.

On the track “Heaven Knows,” Hicks uses both horns and handclaps in the background, along with instrumental snippets of Marvin Gaye’s “Ain’t That Peculiar” and Ray Charles’ “What’d I Say.” Included on the album is Hicks’ cover of “Wherever I Lay My Hat (That’s My Home),” which was originally recorded by Marvin Gaye in 1964.

Hicks’ soulful voice is elicited in “Give Me Tonight,” which is a funky number that brings to mind the 80s. This is probably my favorite song on the album, because of the catchy beat and the female background singers, which definitely adds appeal to the song.

“My Place Has Been” is a beautiful ballad on which Hicks really shows how his skill and how he can hold out notes. “The Right Place” is a little bit more calm and relaxed than the other songs on the album.

With a little bit of everything, there are definitely some great songs that will get you on your feet.

Hot DVD of the Week

Leonardo DiCaprio, Matt Damon and Jack Nicholson star in Martin Scorsese’s Academy Award nominated film The Departed. With an all-star cast like that, you can’t go wrong.

The film is about an undercover cop in Boston trying to catch a huge mobster. Sounds pretty easy, right? Not when there is an undercover mobster portraying a cop to protect the one the cops are after.

Filled with tons of twists and turns, The Departed has a different take on the typical “cops and robbers” film. And of course, being a typical Scorsese film, it is filled with lots of violence, blood and gore, and the acting is great. DiCaprio’s Nicky and Wahlberg were all nominated for Golden Globes, and Wahlberg was even nominated for an Oscar.

Like many Scorsese films, it is rather long, running at roughly two and a half hours. Don’t let that deter you though, because it goes by very quickly.

The Departed, first released in theaters on October 6, 2006, has now been made available on DVD. The DVD is filled with a number of cool extras. Some of these features include nine deleted scenes, a couple specials on Scorsese, and a look at the inspiration behind Nicholson’s character.
Las Vegas’ Panic! At the Disco artistry and songwriting, is not completely incomparable on levels of leaving messes all over the music instrument, drip everywhere, Panic! At The Disco, who’s humble celebrity mentality becomes com-

An employee of the Hard Rock Hotel disclosed to Us Weekly, "Anna looked extremely bloated when she vomited out something white before having a seizure. The reaction was so violent that people were terrified by it."
Construction to Start in Coming Months

MAC continued from pg. 1

the University.

• Five days after any event, the WLBPD and MUPD will meet to discuss the success of the plan and determine possible improvements for future events.

• The WLBPD and MUPD are required to file an annual report of their progress and submit it to the WLB Borough Council and the University President.

The Issues

Traffic

When it comes to appeasing city residents, many feel this new plan should have been developed before to alleviate traffic. For example, the Gridiron Classic, a December event which boasted an estimated 5,000 people, caused congestion on the streets surrounding Cedar Ave., forcing WLBPD to inter-vene.

"If the [new] plan would have been in effect [for the Gridiron Classic], [traffic] would have been different," said Klein.

Once construction of the MAC is completed, Milhorn anticipates the time for all vehicles to exit the University and township to be reduced from two or three hours to about one hour. As a safety precaution, however, the oficers will adhere to the stipulations agreed upon when the MAC is being used by a third party.

In response, Klein commented: "[The plan] applies to all aspects. [The University] has to comply with conditions or be in violation of the condition of the variance." To this effect, should the University not follow any or all parts of the aforementioned plan, they will be held accountable by the Borough Police Department or Zoning Oficer.

Residential Zone

A contention finally addressed in detail at the meeting was the University's permitted zoning. Thus far, the public has been concerned with building the MAC on property deemed R-22, or single family home zoning. Smith addressed both the board and the audience to the effect that the majority of the MAC will be built in the proper institutional zone and that the residential zone will, in fact, be used to construct a parking lot. Moreover, the zone marked R-22 is lo-cated in the middle of campus.

Public Concern

Midway through the meeting, tensions were high and patience was running out among Monmouth supporters.

"This meeting is an embar-rassment to West Long Branch with inane questions coming from the zoning board," said Mary Lynch, a lifelong resident. "Any qualms I had about [the MAC] were resolved with the captain's presentation. I wish the zoning board would spend one-tenth of the time they spent on these ques-tions on other issues."

Sher, who supports the Uni-versity but not the plan to build the MAC, said she was concerned about the future of her neighbor-hood.

"Today we have 19 [Division 1] sports... [Boylan] doesn't work for 18 of those sports. It also doesn't work for the general student." MARYLIN MCNEIL

Athletic Director

"It's not that the residents don't like the University," said Sher. "It's more about your generosity answering all the questions the residents have asked," said Russell Olsen, 11 year resident and Class of '90 alum. "People don't ask us to shut down our street when [community events like] parades come around. We do it because it's for the betterment of the community." Closings Remarks

At the close of the evening, Monmouth President Paul Gaffney II, who had remained quiet throughout the night, rose to address a weary board and thinned audience.

"I asked to speak tonight because I alone asked that we come back to ask for your reconsideration," he said. "It behooves us to take a step to have trust between the two... [We've] done our best to address your concerns... allow me to bring in better and better stu-dents, I implore you to vote favorably. You'll be proud of it."

The Vote

Five of the seven board mem- bers voted favorably, citing that the University met the requirement for the variance. Ellen Anfuso and Douglas Bostwick dissented.

Anfuso claimed she could find no justification for a building with the girth of the proposed 152,400 square foot MAC. Bostwick did not like the freedoms given to the University as it pertained to non-Monmouth events.

"I'm still stuck with the prob- lem of the border on the police department [and] the strain on the council and community," he said. "I also have a hard time with the amount of events that could take place."

The Future

Despite residual reservations, as well as general grousing, all the questions the residents have asked," said Russell Olsen, 11 year resident and Class of '90 alum. "These don't ask us to shut down our street when [community events like] parades come around. We do it because it's for the betterment of the community."
Classifieds

NJ SUMMER SPORTS CAMP

IS LOOKING FOR:

PART TIME COUNSELORS AGES 18-UP

9-4 MON-FRI, 6/27-8/11,

GOLF, TENNIS, BASKETBALL, BASEBALL,

WRESTLING/KARATE, SOCCER AND LACROSSE.

GREAT PAY! 4 HRS./DAY 3 DAYS WEEK.

ALL POSITIONS IN OCEAN TOWNSHIP

Call Vic for more information

(718) 375-6859

---

BARTENDERS NEEDED

NO EXPERIENCE PREFERRED

FULL TIME/PART TIME AVAILABLE.

WILL TRAIN

732-345-9191

---

Winter/Spring Positions Available

Earn up to $150/ day

Exp. not required

Undercover shoppers needed to judge retail and dining establishments

Call 1.800.722.4791

---

Looking for P/T knowledgeable computer person to put line on Ebay, !

Please call Mr. Cohen at

(732) 9239334

---

Baby sitter needed in Asbury Park!

Professor needs responsible individual to watch two small children on M and F mornings, while she works from home office.

$10 hr. - flexible times, great kids, nice environment.

Please call Nora at

(732) 502-9493

---

Need Extra Cash?

Earn it while having FUN!

My Gym Shrewsbury is seeking athletic, energetic, candidates who love working with children.

• Applicants will lead and assist children’s classes and birthday parties

• Competitive Wages

• Flexible Hours

• Weekend Availability a Must

Please contact Melissa at 732-389-9669

---

Writer Internship

English/Journalism major for local performing arts web site est. in 1998. Telecommuting- No Pay. Two stories per month. Email resume and 2 samples to info@castingnewyork.com

Tel. 732-580-2401

---

UPs Part-Time Package Handlers Needed

Loading and unloading trucks, sorting packages

Shifts: 4am-9am 5pm-10pm

Pay am- $9.50 pm- $8.50

Monday – Friday

Tinton Falls and Lakewood locations

Benefits include tuition assistance, comprehensive health benefits, no weekends, and vacation, paid holidays

Apply: www.upsjobs.com

“UPS is an equal opportunity employer”

---

Summer Sports Camp

IS LOOKING FOR:

PART TIME COUNSELORS AGES 18-UP

9-4 MON-FRI, 6/27-8/11,

GOLF, TENNIS, BASKETBALL, BASEBALL,

WRESTLING/KARATE, SOCCER AND LACROSSE.

GREAT PAY! 4 HRS./DAY 3 DAYS WEEK.

ALL POSITIONS IN OCEAN TOWNSHIP

Call Vic for more information

(718) 375-6859

---

Want Cash?!

Please Call Mr. Cohen at

(732) 923-9334

---

Spring Break 2007

Don’t miss out! Spring Break 2007 is approaching and STS is offering specials to this year’s hottest destinations!

Call for savings 1.800.648.4849 or visit www.ststravel.com.

---

Catholic Centre at Monmouth

Please join us every week!

Mass

Every Sunday at 7 p.m.

Why Believe Series

Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. start in Catholic Centre

Valentine Party

Thursday, Feb. 15 @ 8:30 p.m. following ASL class

American Sign Language

Thursdays @ 7:30 p.m.

Craft Night

Monday, Feb. 12 @ 7:30 p.m.

Ash Wednesday Services

Wed., 2/21 @ 12:05 p.m.

12:45 p.m., and 1:30 p.m.

in Wilson Hall Auditorium

www.mucatholic.org

Watch for our special events during the semester!

FOOD ALWAYS SERVED!

Catholic Centre at Monmouth University, 16 Beechwood Avenue

Gate to our house is located in the rear corner of Lot 4, next to the Health Center.

Call us at 732-229-9300

---

UPs Part-Time Package Handlers Needed

Loading and unloading trucks, sorting packages

Shifts: 4am-9am 5pm-10pm

Pay am- $9.50 pm- $8.50

Monday – Friday

Tinton Falls and Lakewood locations

Benefits include tuition assistance, comprehensive health benefits, no weekends, and vacation, paid holidays

Apply: www.upsjobs.com

“UPS is an equal opportunity employer”

---

Spring Break 2007

Don’t miss out! Spring Break 2007 is approaching and STS is offering specials to this year’s hottest destinations!

Call for savings 1.800.648.4849 or visit www.ststravel.com.

---

Bartenders Needed

No Experience Preferred

Full Time/Part Time Available.

Will Train.

732-345-9191

---

Baby Sitter Needed in Asbury Park!

Professor needs responsible individual to watch two small children on M and F mornings, while she works from home office.

$10 hr. - flexible times, great kids, nice environment.

Please call Nora at (732) 502-9493

---

Need Extra Cash?

Earn it while having FUN!

My Gym Shrewsbury is seeking athletic, energetic, candidates who love working with children.

• Applicants will lead and assist children’s classes and birthday parties

• Competitive Wages

• Flexible Hours

• Weekend Availability a Must

Please contact Melissa at 732-389-9669

---

Writer Internship

English/Journalism major for local performing arts web site est. in 1998. Telecommuting- No Pay. Two stories per month. Email resume and 2 samples to info@castingnewyork.com

Tel. 732-580-2401

---

Catholic Centre at Monmouth

Please join us every week!

Mass

Every Sunday at 7 p.m.

Why Believe Series

Tuesdays @ 7:30 p.m. start in Catholic Centre

Valentine Party

Thursday, Feb. 15 @ 8:30 p.m. following ASL class

American Sign Language

Thursdays @ 7:30 p.m.

Craft Night

Monday, Feb. 12 @ 7:30 p.m.

Ash Wednesday Services

Wed., 2/21 @ 12:05 p.m.

12:45 p.m., and 1:30 p.m.

in Wilson Hall Auditorium

www.mucatholic.org

Watch for our special events during the semester!

FOOD ALWAYS SERVED!

Catholic Centre at Monmouth University, 16 Beechwood Avenue

Gate to our house is located in the rear corner of Lot 4, next to the Health Center.

Call us at 732-229-9300

---

UPs Part-Time Package Handlers Needed

Loading and unloading trucks, sorting packages

Shifts: 4am-9am 5pm-10pm

Pay am- $9.50 pm- $8.50

Monday – Friday

Tinton Falls and Lakewood locations

Benefits include tuition assistance, comprehensive health benefits, no weekends, and vacation, paid holidays

Apply: www.upsjobs.com

“UPS is an equal opportunity employer”

---

Spring Break 2007

Don’t miss out! Spring Break 2007 is approaching and STS is offering specials to this year’s hottest destinations!

Call for savings 1.800.648.4849 or visit www.ststravel.com.

---

Bartenders Needed

No Experience Preferred

Full Time/Part Time Available.

Will Train.

732-345-9191

---

Baby Sitter Needed in Asbury Park!

Professor needs responsible individual to watch two small children on M and F mornings, while she works from home office.

$10 hr. - flexible times, great kids, nice environment.

Please call Nora at (732) 502-9493

---

Need Extra Cash?

Earn it while having FUN!

My Gym Shrewsbury is seeking athletic, energetic, candidates who love working with children.

• Applicants will lead and assist children’s classes and birthday parties

• Competitive Wages

• Flexible Hours

• Weekend Availability a Must

Please contact Melissa at 732-389-9669

---

Writer Internship

English/Journalism major for local performing arts web site est. in 1998. Telecommuting- No Pay. Two stories per month. Email resume and 2 samples to info@castingnewyork.com

Tel. 732-580-2401

---

Catholic Centre at Monmouth

Please join us every week!

Mass

Every Sunday at 7 p.m.

Why Believe Series

Tuesdays @ 7:30 p.m. start in Catholic Centre

Valentine Party

Thursday, Feb. 15 @ 8:30 p.m. following ASL class

American Sign Language

Thursdays @ 7:30 p.m.

Craft Night

Monday, Feb. 12 @ 7:30 p.m.

Ash Wednesday Services

Wed., 2/21 @ 12:05 p.m.

12:45 p.m., and 1:30 p.m.

in Wilson Hall Auditorium

www.mucatholic.org

Watch for our special events during the semester!

FOOD ALWAYS SERVED!

Catholic Centre at Monmouth University, 16 Beechwood Avenue

Gate to our house is located in the rear corner of Lot 4, next to the Health Center.

Call us at 732-229-9300

---

UPs Part-Time Package Handlers Needed

Loading and unloading trucks, sorting packages

Shifts: 4am-9am 5pm-10pm

Pay am- $9.50 pm- $8.50

Monday – Friday

Tinton Falls and Lakewood locations

Benefits include tuition assistance, comprehensive health benefits, no weekends, and vacation, paid holidays

Apply: www.upsjobs.com

“UPS is an equal opportunity employer”

---

Spring Break 2007

Don’t miss out! Spring Break 2007 is approaching and STS is offering specials to this year’s hottest destinations!

Call for savings 1.800.648.4849 or visit www.ststravel.com.
Today's Birthday (Feb. 15)

Your assignment this year is to finish the projects and gather up money that's owed you. This may not sound like much fun at first, but it can be quite rewarding.

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging.

Aries • (Mar. 21 - April 19) - Today is a 7
Talk to your team about what they've done well, and what they could have done better. Look to you for encouragement and approval, as well as direction.

Taurus • (April 20 - May 20) - Today is an 8
A group you've known and loved for years does you a world of good. Discuss your joy, your hopes and your fears. Allow friends to help you heal.

Gemini • (May 21 - June 21) - Today is an 8
Take the opportunity to upgrade your public persona. A new power suit could very effectively communicate your new status.

Cancer • (June 22 - July 22) - Today is a 7
Reach out and take advantage of new opportunities. Don't do it in person, however. Have somebody else do it for you.

Leo • (July 23 - Aug. 22) - Today is an 8
Some days are all talk and no action. This day, it's the other way around. You'll catch up with all the chores you'd been putting off, and then some.

Virgo • (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) - Today is a 7
You'd rather be in a secluded spot, expressing your affection. If normal chores interfere with that, jot down a few notes for later.

Libra • (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23) - Today is a 6
Don't hurry into anything, or out of anything, either. Your opinion will change at least once before you make the right decision.

Scorpio • (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) - Today is a 5
A cozy, comfortable feeling alternates with bouts of anxiety. One minute everything's fine, and the next minute you wonder. Better lie low for a couple of days.

Sagittarius • (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) Today is a 7
Life is about education, as you may have noticed. Some things you learn the hard way. Doesn't matter, a lesson is a lesson, and you're getting wiser all the time.

Capricorn • (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) - Today is an 8
Temporary frustration gives way to something more like sheer delight. Don't give up when you run into a wall, there's a secret door.

Aquarius • (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) - Today is a 7
You have many valuable items hidden around your premises. Show the folks who see them as clutter that they're really cold, hard cash. Sell something.

Pisces • (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20) - Today is a 7
New friends clue you in on the easiest ways to accomplish your objectives. You've been doing some things the hard way, as you may have suspected.

MU Students: Interested in Comic Illustration?
Get your own comic published in the Outlook!
Call 732-571-3481
Student Involvement

The Outlook

February 14, 2007

Club and Greek

Phi Sigma Kappa

Brothers! It’s been a busy week, but let’s start with Squeaks… Congrats on being the Lauchpad of a new generation. Lauchpad cries about Jihad ruining his shirt that cost a whopping 30 dollars, that he got for 15 in the half off bin. Donkey wants to get ready for Greek Week Swim Competition, but can’t find a swimsuit to fit in. Sorry Jeff but a sloth can’t keep up with Miles Austin. So I found out what happened to Phillips, Barf ate Tweak and Fivel to give his stomach a fill-up. Who can beat up Pugsley more? A Drunk Olmec or Brittany. Skeeter don’t worry that your nose is fat, its much easier to get rid of that stupid hat… man everybody already knows that Forget about Waldo, what happened to Queefhead? I hope he’s not dead. What’s the only thing that can keep Krusty from drinking? When “Outbreak” is on HBO. Hansel, if you thought cheese was bad, narcotrops is the biggest block. Flamer, you got a enormous bed to move on, but why do girls just love your futon? Hey Hoovs, bye Gump. Hurley, I thought those extras on Law & Order were ballin out, how you gonna keep your bank account from fallin out? Gaston, you didn’t get the votes to be in this week’s article. Sorry. This is Yoda signing off… Damn Proud!

Delta Phi Epsilon

I <3 Alpha O’s! Congrats girls! xoxo Dazzle + Cali. Congrats babes! I <3 you! TriniDy, AOf So hot – Riley P.B. – Happy 2 yr Sweethearts <3. D Phi E needs to meet in the jungle! Love, Starlet. Congrats Alpha Omicron, you girls are a perfect fit! DESTINI, you will find out who I am. Happy 2 yr Sweethearts! Congrats Alpha Omicron! You girls are so awesome! Alpha Xi’s, I can’t believe it’s been a year! Love you all – dolce. essence j lobe’s you. He told me he left you presents <3 p.s. congrats Alpha Omicron. DaZzle, this weekend LIT’s! 17 more days til Cancun! Ahh! Johnson! – HOLLYWOOD. Alpha Omicron too cute! xoxo – Roxie, I love my Diamonds… we’re old but were still hot! Congrats AcOoO! Love my family tree… still smoking hot! <3 Riggz! Luckie, thank you 4 everything, secret I heart you. Congrats Alpha O’s. Twinnny, we’re back! xoxo Sunset. You all suck <3 ExtrREME. Congrats AOs! So proud of you girls! xoxo calipso. Dazzle, thank god Recruitment is over. I love spending late nights with you xox – <3 Parkles. She don’t even know she ENfuego?? Wifey, where would I be w/o you! – Caliente.

Phi Sigma Sigma

Hey everyone! First and foremost, the women of Alpha Xi Delta would like to say congratulations to our five new members and welcome them into our family. On that note, we will be holding a continuous open bidding event on Thursday, February 15 at 10:15 pm in Oakwood lounge for all women who are interested in joining our sorority or who would like to have some hot chocolate and learn a bit more about our organization. We hope to see you there! We will be holding more interest meetings as well; for all girls interested, join our facebook group, “Interested in Joining Alpha Xi Delta,” and check The Outlook weekly for the latest updates and information. We hope everyone has a great week. Much Xi love to all!

Phi Sigma Sigma

Phi Sigma Sigma would like to congratulate all the Greek chapters on their new members and wish the best of luck this semester! Things got a little wet and wild for us this weekend and we loved every minute of it… Happy Birthday to all of the Phi Sigs in February and Congratulations Alpha Iotas!!

Alpha Xi Delta

Hey everyone! First and foremost, the women of Alpha Xi Delta would like to say congratulations to our five new members and welcome them into our family. On that note, we will be holding a continuous open bidding event on Thursday, February 15 at 10:15 pm in Oakwood lounge for all women who are interested in joining our sorority or who would like to have some hot chocolate and learn a bit more about our organization. We hope to see you there! We will be holding more interest meetings as well; for all girls interested, join our facebook group, “Interested in Joining Alpha Xi Delta,” and check The Outlook weekly for the latest updates and information. We hope everyone has a great week. Much Xi love to all!

Do You Need Custom Garments for Fraternities, Sororities, Clubs, Events, and More?

Then Contact LOUD! Designs Today!

Current Clients Include:

- ΦΣΚ ΘΞ ΑΧΡ ΦΣΣ
- ΤΚΕ ΑΣΤ ΔФΕ ΣΠ
- AND MANY MORE!

This Month on Hawk TV

Original Programming

- 3:00 pm Issues & Insights
- 3:30 pm – M – You
- 4:00 pm – M Squared
- 5:00 pm – M Squared Live
- 6:00 pm – Hawk TV News
- 6:30 pm – Extra Point

Look for the Hawk TV Schedule in your dorm lobby.

Hawk TV has already begun producing all new episodes of our original programming.

Movies at 12 on 12

- The Notebook
- Men in Black
- Hotel Rwanda
- Gridiron Gang
- Must Love Dogs
- Saw III
- Jerry Maguire
- Snakes on a Plane
- Employee of the Month

108 Brighton Ave.
West End | Long Branch, NJ
732.923.9000
(approx. 1 mile from Monmouth University; between Pipe Down and Chicken King)
What are your Valentine's Day plans?
... or what would your dream Valentine's Day be like?

By: Suzanne Guarino

Kelly freshman
“My dream would be a date with James Franco from Fly Boys.”

Joe sophomore
“I’m going to the John Legend show at Albany.”

Bryan & Suzanne seniors
“We’re celebrating over the weekend with dinner and a movie.”

Katie senior
“I’m going out to dinner with my favorite man in the world: my best guy friend Tony Cammarata.”

Cassie freshman
“I wish my secret admirer would come visit me.”

Paul senior
“I am taking my girlfriend out to dinner at a nice restaurant where I will give her the necklace I bought her.”

Kelly junior
“A lovely brunch with my boyfriend, a relaxing afternoon, and spending the night with my loves in the school play.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Jermaine junior
“A quiet evening alone watching ESPN. I hate Valentine’s Day.”

Brett junior
“We’re celebrating over the weekend with a dinner and a movie.”

Joe sophomore
“My dream Valentine’s Day would be someone suprising me by leaving clues throughout the day that lead up to a candlelit dinner.”

Kelly junior
“Jimmy Kimmell show. We’ll leave a trail of rose petals to the big room full of fluffy pillows.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

I’m going to the John Legend show at Albany.”

Kelly junior
“A lovely brunch with my boyfriend, a relaxing afternoon, and spending the night with my loves in the school play.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Jermaine junior
“A quiet evening alone watching ESPN. I hate Valentine’s Day.”

Brett junior
“We’re celebrating over the weekend with a dinner and a movie.”

Joe sophomore
“My dream Valentine’s Day would be someone suprising me by leaving clues throughout the day that lead up to a candlelit dinner.”

Kelly junior
“Jimmy Kimmell show. We’ll leave a trail of rose petals to the big room full of fluffy pillows.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Jermaine junior
“A quiet evening alone watching ESPN. I hate Valentine’s Day.”

Brett junior
“We’re celebrating over the weekend with a dinner and a movie.”

Joe sophomore
“My dream Valentine’s Day would be someone suprising me by leaving clues throughout the day that lead up to a candlelit dinner.”

Kelly junior
“Jimmy Kimmell show. We’ll leave a trail of rose petals to the big room full of fluffy pillows.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Jermaine junior
“A quiet evening alone watching ESPN. I hate Valentine’s Day.”

Brett junior
“We’re celebrating over the weekend with a dinner and a movie.”

Joe sophomore
“My dream Valentine’s Day would be someone suprising me by leaving clues throughout the day that lead up to a candlelit dinner.”

Kelly junior
“Jimmy Kimmell show. We’ll leave a trail of rose petals to the big room full of fluffy pillows.”

Angela freshman
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Brett junior
“My dream Valentine’s Day would involve going out to dinner and then bringing the diamond home to a trail of rose petals, lead her to a big room full of fluffy pillows, and play pattycake all night before acting as the big spoon and going to sleep.”

Jermaine junior
“A quiet evening alone watching ESPN. I hate Valentine’s Day.”
Hello everyone at Monmouth University! I hope the weather is starting to warm up. My mom tells me it gets colder there every day. Unfortunately, I do not have very much to write about this week as I was sick in bed with the flu and I actually didn’t even leave my room until Friday night when I went down to watch a movie in Red Hall Lobby. I did a few little things this weekend which I can tell you about.

On Saturday night, we went out to the Planet Hollywood that is in Piccadilly Circus for my friend’s birthday. It was a very cool place. The stairwell that led up to the actual restaurant was wallpapered with pictures of “paparazzi” and had flashing lights everywhere. Whenever you feel like you were actually walking down a red carpet! The restaurant was very cool, much like any Planet Hollywood you would visit in the U.S. After that, we went to the Sports Café, which was just a short walk away. The Sports Café is pretty much an American Bar located in the heart of London. They play football and hockey games on TV’s, have cheap drinks, pool tables, a dance floor, and anything else you would find in an American bar. It was a pretty good time, although most of us were either just getting over being sick or were starting to get sick so we were very exhausted and didn’t stay out too late.

On Sunday, my cousin that I haven’t seen in ten years came to visit me! She is studying abroad at the University of Manchester and her school sponsored a weekend trip to London, so she stayed overnight with me. We went shopping around Oxford Street, visited the pub on campus at Regent’s, and then went to a very low-key pub right down the street from us to get some food and strawberry beer (as gross as it sounds, it’s actually pretty good!). Unfortunately, we were both exhausted. She had already had a long weekend, and I am still recovering from being sick, so we didn’t go too crazy. But I am going to plan a trip to Manchester now to go visit her.

Again, sorry there’s nothing too exciting this week, but next week I promise there will be many things to tell you! In case anyone wants to contact me with questions, you can e-mail me at ddc_marie@yahoo.com.

Life Across the Pond

Sick in London, England

DANIELLE DECARLO

STAFF WRITER

Hello Monmouth! Hope all is well back in Jersey. This past Saturday, the school had a day trip to Bath, which ended up being quite beautiful! The bus ride took a good two and a half hours to get there, but it was definitely worth the wait! I FINALLY got to see some countryside: sheep, acres of green grass, horses, etc. I love the city and all, but I was waiting to see the actual city, which is well, some even with their parents!

During the “tour,” we were given these “controllers” which look like outdated cell phones from years ago (they were huge)! By each description, there was a number, which you typed in on the controller. Then you would put it by your ear—just like a phone—and listen to the commentary. They were cool gadgets, but I barely paid attention to the commentary because I was distracted by artifacts. Also, there is this huge “wishing bath” where people made a wish and threw in some coins, pence, pounds, or—strangely enough—American dollars. I don’t ever remember seeing dollar bills in a wishing well before, but there’s a first time for everything, I guess!

Besides seeing the baths, there was this amazingly funny street performance! There were two men, completely naked except for a leopard thong, and they performed acrobatics and other stunts! Everybody was shocked and filled with laughter! We were like, “so…this is what Bath is like!” It was amazing! They didn’t have a license to be there or anything, nor was there a charge to see this performance. These two men do this as a profession and live off the tips that people give to them after watching the performance! It definitely is a place to check out when you are in London. Take care, MU!

Bath!

LINDSAY PLESNARSKI

STAFF WRITER

Hello Monmouth! Hope all is well back in Jersey. This past Saturday, the school had a day trip to Bath, which ended up being quite beautiful! The bus ride took a good two and a half hours to get there, but it was definitely worth the wait! I FINALLY got to see some countryside: sheep, acres of green grass, horses, etc. I love the city and all, but I was waiting to see the actual city, which is well, some even with their parents!

During the “tour,” we were given these “controllers” which look like outdated cell phones from years ago (they were huge)! By each description, there was a number, which you typed in on the controller. Then you would put it by your ear—just like a phone—and listen to the commentary. They were cool gadgets, but I barely paid attention to the commentary because I was distracted by artifacts. Also, there is this huge “wishing bath” where people made a wish and threw in some coins, pence, pounds, or—strangely enough—American dollars. I don’t ever remember seeing dollar bills in a wishing well before, but there’s a first time for everything, I guess!

Besides seeing the baths, there was this amazingly funny street performance! There were two men, completely naked except for a leopard thong, and they performed acrobatics and other stunts! Everybody was shocked and filled with laughter! We were like, “so…this is what Bath is like!” It was amazing! They didn’t have a license to be there or anything, nor was there a charge to see this performance. These two men do this as a profession and live off the tips that people give to them after watching the performance! It definitely is a place to check out when you are in London. Take care, MU!
Knights too Hot for Hawks to Handle

FDU Shoots 59 % in a Key Northeast Conference Victory at Boylan Gym

The Monmouth Hawks and the FDU Knights played in front of a television audience, the last six times these two teams met on television. The last four times these two con-ferences met on television, there was still a sliver of hope, as the Monmouth Hawks were named to the All-NEC as a mid-elder Katie Degen. For the Hawks, Youngblood had a game high 24 points. Peeples and Delic, the leading scorer, blasted the Hawks for a three-point play. However, after Whitney Coleman missed a three-pointer that would have cut the deficit to 10, the Knights ran down the floor and drilled a three of their own for the final dagger.

Andrè Harris, the leading scorer, blasted the Hawks for a game high 24 points. Peoples and Ubilla each hit for 19, and Tyler finished in double figures for the Knights with as well as 15. For the Hawks, Youngblood tied a career high with a 20-point performance, but received little help. Alston finished with 11, all in the first half. Delic finished with 13, mostly in the second half, and Bunch finished with a strong 13 point, 7 rebound, 6 block per-formance, going 7-7 from the free throw line. While it was a “White Out” for the fans at Boylan Gym, they saw the Knights shoot “Lights Out,” shooting a blistering 59 percent from the field for Monmouth, includ-ing 6-12 from three-point land, and 14-17 from the charity stripe. The Hawks and the 10th ranked scoring offense in the NEC couldn’t keep up with the third ranked of fense in the NEC, as Monmouth allowed its highest point total since an 84-69 loss to Seton Hall in early December. The loss ended a seven game win streak at home for the Hawks, dropping their record to 11-4 and 6-7 in conference play. They are currently tied for seventh place with the Wagner Seahawks, a team they swept this season following a rare win on the road in Staten Island last Thursday. Up next, the Hawks will welcome another nemesis, the Central Connecticut State Blue Devils to Boylan Gym on Thurs-day night before traveling to Mary-land to play the Mount St. Mary’s Mountaineers on Saturday night. The Blue Devils boast a lead best 13-1 conference record, hav-ing won their last 11 in a row, the fifth longest win streak in the na- tion. The Blue Devils will also come to Boylan Gym looking to clinch the 2007 NEC Regular Season Championship with a win over the Hawks. On Thursday night, a loss that have lost nine of their last ten against, and a team that has ended their season the last three straight years.

The Hawk File:

Katie Degen
Name: Katie Degen
Hometown: Glen Head, New York
Major: Elementary Education

Most Memorable Moment at MU: “There are two moments that stick out the most to me. The first would be losing to Mount St. Mary’s after 5 overtimes my sophomore year. The second would be winning the NEC’s last year at home on Kessler.”

Biggest Rival: “Without a doubt, it would be Mount St. Mary’s. I unfortunately have lost to them my freshmen and sophomore year in the conference championship, but last year we took them out in the semis. This year I hope to even it out.”

Favorite Teammate: “I do not have a single favorite teammate. Our team is very close, but there are a few that stick out to me. Last year our freshmen starting goalie Monica Johnson was our backbone. She was there when we needed her and is always motivating. Also, I could not forget the girls I have played with since I have been at Monmouth. Carolyn Ravela and Kaitlyn Robinson are such talented players and I love playing with them. Lastly, I would have to mention Ashley Waldman and Megan Nutter because we play in the midfield together we just connect.”

PHOTO COURTESY of ME ARNOLD
Whitney Coleman’s ball handling was not enough for the Hawks last Monday against Fairleigh Dickinson.

PHOTO COURTESY of MONMOUTH SPORTS INFORMATION
Katie Degen will play a key part in the Hawks success this upcoming season.
The men’s and women’s track & field teams set goals going into the NEC Championship, and this past weekend. It was a clear goal: win the NEC Championship. If accomplished, this would have been the third straight year. The Women’s Track and Field team placed second in the NEC Championships. The weekend was focused on the defensive side of the game, and look to improve for important NEC conference games this week.

Among the highlights from the recruits on the defensive side include senior Garrett Oloko and Dave Ogden. Callon played two years at Plantation High School in Florida, and was a three-star recruit from the state of California. Callan talked to the gathering about each individual recruit before taking questions from the crowd and showing a video of each recruit from their high school playing days. The video is currently available to watch on the Monmouth Hawks Web site, www.hawksports.com.

“Our coaches did an outstanding job of establishing a large pool of talented prospects,” said Callahan. “From that pool, we were able to land an excellent class, and meet our positional needs for this year. Academically and athletically, it is a very talented group that could impact Monmouth football in the near future.”
Owning the Island

Hawks Defeat Wagner for Conference Win!

Jamaar Youngblood